FOREST FIRES RAVAGE STATE

Heavy Losses Reported From All Sections of New Hampshire—Several Hundreds of Acres of Woodland Burned Over

Rochester, May 12.—This portion of the state was visited on Thursday by one of the worst forest fires known for years and the damage will be very heavy.

Last night over 800 men and women fought fires in the towns of Middlebury, Milton and North Rochester.

One set of farm buildings have been destroyed and several houses were in danger. People moved their household goods from the houses and carried them taken away.

The strong wind, which is one of the worst for years, blew it up. The sky for miles around was lighted by the flames.

At New Durham and Middlebury, the fire started by a fishing party in one of the large woods owned by J. Frank Sawyer of Dover, Ellsworth Rollins of Alton and Charles H. Hayes of Haverhill, Mass. Over 500 acres of valuable growth have been destroyed besides over 1,000,000 feet of dressed lumber which was ready for shipment. A portable saw mill was destroyed at a loss of $1000.

The loss on the wood lots and the lumber is estimated at $10,000, with but little insurance.

The large set of farm buildings owned and occupied by George Curtis were totally destroyed early Thursday afternoon. The loss will be about $8000, partly insured.

Telephone poles were burned and wires crippled. Three houses are in danger and at the time of writing the fire is a few rods from the Wentworth House. Goods have been moved from the house. Over 300 men from all the nearby towns are fighting the fire and seem to make no headway in getting control.

At Milton, the fire was in the valuable growth of Luther Hayes. With

AGAIN ON WAR TRAIL

Reports Received of New Raids Along Boundary Line by Mexican Marauders.

(Special to The Herald)

El Paso, May 12.—Mexican marauders along the border have taken the war trail again. Following the abrupt termination of the international conference between representatives of the U. S. and Mexico, reports of new raids along the boundary line from El Paso to Brownsville were received today. Shells in the vicinity of Mesilla fired several times. In many automobiles, and cavalry scouts who had gone across the border brought back the news that now bands were forming on the southern side of the Rio Grande.

Dublin, May 12.—Premier Asquith arrived here this morning to investigate for himself conditions in Ireland following the recent revolt. As a result of his visit, it is expected that martial law will soon be ended and civil administration restored. The Premier drove through several streets lined with wrecked buildings, and also viewed the damage done to the Vice Regal Lodge.

At a long conference with General Maxwell, commander of the British military forces in Ireland, the Premier received complete official reports on the course the rebellion had taken and the present situation. It was announced that a court-martial had been ordered to try the officer held responsible for the execution of Skeffington, the Irish editor.

ASQUITH IN IRELAND

As Result of His Visit, Martial Law Will Probably Be Ended in Country.

Dublin, May 12.—German troops last night renewed their attacks west of the Meuse in efforts to recapture positions taken by the French at Dead Man's Hill on May 10, but the assaults failed. The "Teufels" were unable to dislodge the French. The French positions at Avocourt were bombarded violently by the German artillery and there was great artillery activity in the Vouvre region.

TURKISH TROOPS REINFORCED

(Special to The Herald)

Petrograd, May 12.—Turkish troops defending Erzurum have been heavily reinforced according to dispatches from Tiflis and are offering desperate resistance to the Russians. The reinforcements are believed to be a portion of the Ottoman army relieved for field service by the surrender of the British army at Kut-el-Amara. The Turks are assailing the advancing Russians fiercely, but are suffering heavy losses from the machine gun fire of the Grand Duke's troops. One Russian states that at least 80,000 Turkish soldiers, offered by Germans, have reached the Erzurum front within the last week, increasing to 200,000 the total of Turkish forces in that region.

RESENTMENT IN SENATE

(Special to The Herald)

Washington, May 12.—The long-simmering resentment in the senate against the administration's branch of senatorial courtesy in making appointments, now burst forth to express itself in a violent revolting against the confirmation of Louis D. Brandeis to the Supreme Court, and George E. Huber to the Federal Trade Commission. Canvas of the situation in the Senate by Senator James Hamilton Lewis, Democrat, has revealed the fact that if the nomination of either of the men were brought to a vote now, both would probably be rejected.

BAD FIRE IN CONNECTICUT

Has Already Spread Over Territory in Four Towns and Sweeping Toward Massachusetts Line.

(Special to The Herald)

Winsted, Conn., May 12.—Forest fire which started apparently from sparks at Owen Case's saw mill in Winsted, burned fiercely all night, having at daylight today covered a tract ten miles square, destroying a number of houses, a score of barns and sheds, considerable live stock and thousands of acres of valuable timber land. Early today the total loss was estimated at upwards of $100,000. The fire had spread over territory in the town of Barkhamsted, Hartland, Granby, and Canton. It was under control on the west, but driven on by a gale was sweeping northward toward the Massachusetts line.

EXPEDITION FACES FOOD SHORTAGE

U. S. Cavalry Still Resting on American Side of Border Until Supplies Are Received

(Special to The Herald)

Marathon, Texas, May 12.—Putative expedition, number 2, faced a shortage of supplies today that may delay the pursuit into Mexico to get the bandits who raided Glen Springs. Armies here today from Marathon reported that Col. Shibley's command of 250 cavalrymen is still resting on the American side of the Rio Grande and probably would not cross until supplies reached them. Only 9 auto trucks were in service between Marathon and the supply base and the number of operations today. This number is not sufficient to keep the troops and

FAST GAME CAPTURED BY MORLEY BUTTON COMPANY

Defeated Navy Team in the Sunset League Game
Thursday by 4 to 1 Score—High Winds Hampered Good Playing at Times

Big Bill Horan, late star pitcher of the K. of C., and now with the Morley Button Company held the U. S. M. C. to one hit and one run on Thursday evening in his first Sunset League game. The hit came in the fourth inning and was a pretty single to right, slumped out by Chapman Scott, U. S. N., sent in to bat by Captain McCrary for Doll, after two men were out. Mr. Scott's clout drove Tharan across the plate with the one run. It was a fine game, despite the high wind, which raised havoc with the work of the fielders at times. Both teams were playing great ball and it was the one bad inning, the third, when things were breaking against them, that the Marines lost to their opponents, 4 to 1. Three costly errors, two stolen bases and three hits netted the Morley Button three runs, more than enough to win the game.

Horan pitched great ball for the navy team, getting seven strike-outs and giving only one free pass. He deserved a better score but things broke bad for him and one of his strike-outs counted for nothing as Cameron dropped the ball, allowing the runner to reach first.

Horan was given great support, his team minkling but one error behind him and but for Mr. Scott's lusty wallop in the fourth he might have won a no-hit, no-run game. Jack Timmons, playing in left field, made two sensational catches of hard flys that looked good for extra bases and Moran in center added another excellent catch, robbing Delelden of a hit in the first. The high wind drove great clouds of dust across the field all during the play and added much to the discomfort and difficulties of the fielders. Tommie Pilgrim, playing at third for the M. B. Co., came through with three pretty hits in his three times at bat.

It was a good game, well played and interesting until the last man was put out. The big crowd of fans left the field after the game, satisfied that they had seen four and one-half innings of "A. No. 1" baseball.

The Game

1st Inning.—Captain Timmons won the toss and took the field. Bumhurger, batting first, hit the first ball pitched. McDonald minked the stop and throwing to Hefner at first for the put-out. Delelden was robbed of hit when Moran made a sensational catch of his in center. Tharan was hit by a pitched ball. McCrary's hard hit to left was muffed by Jack Timmons, after a hard run. No hits, no runs.

McDonald sent a grounder down the base line and was out at first. Tharan, unassisted, J. Timmons hit to Hanner and was thrown out at first to Tharan. Tommie Pilgrim singled on a hard drive between short and third. Hanlon singled to right, advancing Pilgrim to third and then stole second. Charlie Hefner was fanned for the third out. Two hits, no runs.

2d Inning.—Hanner drew a pass. Cunningham fled in McCabe in right. Doll popped to McDonald at second. Horn hit sharply to third and forced Hanner at second. Pilgrim to McDonald. No hits, no runs.

P. Timmons was thrown out at first, Cameron to Tharan, on a dropped third strike. Moran walked, and took second on a passed ball. Hanner tightened up and pulled out of a bad hole by finding McCabe and Horan. No hits, no runs.

fix any minimum age limit, consequently children under ten are legally not even subject to the regulations that apply to the older ones.

In New York there is a law that a boy who goes about the streets with his own kit string over his shoulder, may legally work any number of hours daily from infancy up, while a boy who works in a child's part must be at least fourteen years of age.

Dr. E. R. Hayhurst, Director of the Division of Industrial Hygiene for the Ohio State Board of Health said:

"This being a new country, we have insisted ourselves into believing that we have no retrograde conditions in the matter of hygiene and sanitation of work, we have, indeed, been very slow to realize how much machinery and production depend upon just these three things: work place, workers' health, and workers' knowledge of how to preserve their health."

A state-wide survey of these features in Ohio in which over 1,000 establishments, employing over 230,000 wage earners, were covered, showed to an astonishing degree the limited state of perfection which exists in these matters.

"Every employer should endeavor to intensify the output in his plant by a careful attention to those hazards. He not only needs a work place in which the physical hazard of the environment is standardized but one in which the principal physical and mental defects in the workers are known and compensated for by a selection of the worker to the job and the job to the worker. Further than this it must not be forgotten that the most perfect specimen of Apollo Belvedere mankind may soon prove a decidedly bad risk if he has no knowledge of how to take care of himself and his health and is given no instruction in the same. Such knowledge is not born in persons, at least no more than a savage needs for his simple, self-sufficient life.

On the second time, P. Timmons struck out to score Hefner was struck out for the second time. P. Timmons was safe when Hora dropped his bunt by to center, going second after the drive. Moran advanced him to third and was out at first on an error by Bumhburger. McCabe tried for a hit and fanned. Three hits, three runs.

4th Inning.—Tharan walked. McCrary fanned out to P. Timmons at short. Hanlon was fanned. Cunningham was safe on McDonald's error. Tharan going second. Scott, batting for Delelden, hit with a pop-up to right, sending Tharan across the plate. Reynolds, batting for Horan, was struck out. One hit; one run.

Horan reached first when Cameron dropped the third strike. McDonald hit an infield fly which was muffed. It looked so easy that Horan stuck to the bag and was declared out. McDonald going to first. He took second on Hanlon's wild throw to first. J. Timmons was out on a foul fly caught by Tharan. Pilgrim made his third hit, scoring McDonald. Hanlon fled to Reynolds in center. One hit, one run.

5th Inning.—Cameron was given free transportation. Higgins, batting for Bumhburger, forced Cameron at second. P. Timmons to McDonald. Delelden hit to McDonald, forcing Higgins at second. P. Timmons taking the throw. Tharan made the third out by fanning. No hits, no runs. The summary:

STREET CHILD WORKERS NEED PROTECTION IS PLEA

Indianapolis, Ind., May 12.—Dr. Edward H. Chamber of New York City pleaded for better protection for the children working in the streets of the American cities in an address today before the National Conference of Charities and Corrections here.

He said in part:

"In twenty-eight states of the union there is no law governing street trading by children. In the twenty other states the provisions are of great variety although some of the states have blindly copied the law of some other commonwealths."

"In Utah the age limit for selling newspapers is twelve years for boys and 16 years for girls, but for some unaccountable reason, boot-blacking is fully approved as an occupation for little girls by a reduction of the limit for them to 12 years.

"Now Hampshire's law shows another curious inconsistency in that girls under 16 must not sell newspapers or newpapers, but girls of 16 may work as bootblacks."

"New Jersey provides regulations for street trading for children by the men responsible for conditions fix any minimum age limit, consequently children under ten are legally not even subject to the regulations that apply to the older ones."

NAVAL APPROPRIATION BILL IS NEARLY READY

Washington, May 11.—The naval appropriation bill was embodied Wednesday by the House committee except for the building increase program on which a vote will be taken May 13. The draft prepared by the sub-committee was approved without many changes. Its details already have been made public.

An unsuccessful fight was made in the committee against conferring the rank of admiral on the chief of operations of the navy while occupying the office and against the provision for 15 aids in that office.

He said in part:

"In twenty-eight states of the union there is no law governing street trading by children. In the twenty other states the provisions are of great variety although some of the states have blindly copied the law of some other commonwealths."

"In Utah the age limit for selling newspapers is twelve years for boys and 16 years for girls, but for some unaccountable reason, boot-blacking is fully approved as an occupation for little girls by a reduction of the limit for them to 12 years.

BAD FIRE SCARE IN NORTH END DISTRICT

A large section of the lower end of Market street was seriously threatened Thursday afternoon when the building of Fred S. Wendell at the corner of Deer and Market streets, the lower floor occupied by the owner as a wholesale cigar store, and a smaller part by Joseph Landchill, a barber shop, the two upper floors being used as tenements and occupied by two Italian families. The fire, owing to the high wind, jumped across Market street, catching on the roof of the Coleman building, was extinguished with little difficulty by a stream from the chasm.

None of the goods stored in the ground floor of Mr. Wendell's store were destroyed as the place is protected by steel ceilings. A large amount of water came through into the barber shop, damaging the fixtures to a great extent.

The tenements on the second and third floors of the Wendell property are occupied by Augustino Morlo, his wife and two children, one four years and one of 5 months; and Mr. and Mrs. Alfredo D'Aloro, and their six children.

The damage is estimated at close to $500.00.

RUSSIANS OPEN NEW CAMPAIGN IN THE EAST

Petrograd, May 12.—The official war report issued last night says:

"Caucasian front: The offensive of the Turkish forces in the region of Mamalatku has been stopped by our fire. In the direction of Bagdad we have occupied the town of Kars-i-Shir in (in the Persian frontier, about 110 miles northeast of Bagdad), where we took Turkish mountain reserves, comprising several hundred thousand cartridges, many shells and hand grenades, telegraph, imperial and a came, supply convoy laden with biscuits, rice, sugar. Pursuing the enemy, we also captured three guns."

The British reverse at Kut-e-Amarra, instead of causing the Russians to abandon or change their plans for invading Mesopotamia, appears, rather, to have inspired them with a fresh incentive for reaching one of the principal objectives of their Caucasian campaign.

Since General Tavayev's capitulation the Russians have made conspicuous progress along the difficult roads of the Persian mountain province which borders Mesopotamia, and, according to the latest information, have strongly fortified Serikli-Kerid, recently captured, and have driven the Turks from another series of positions far to the westward and close to their own frontier.

The main threat upon Mesopotamia however, consists, not in this isolated Persian expedition, which is far removed from the other Caucasian armies, but in the concerted Russian efforts to drive the Turks southward from Mesopotamia in the direction of Diarbekr. This direction provides the shortest route, of which the Russians would, it is generally agreed here, be equivalent to Turkish renunciation of Mesopotamia.

The Russians, temporarily satisfying themselves with answering the Turkish attacks before Erzincan, are exerting their greatest pressure in this southern direction, where they have driven the Turks from an important mountain range, and are now following up their advantage in the direction of Diarbekr. The Turkish attacks before Erzincan apparently have come to an end without result, and an immediate resumption of the offensive by the Russian central armies is expected. According to all reports large bodies of German troops are assisting in the Turkish operations.

Beat Back Vaux Attack

Paris, May 11.—German troops made an attack last night on French positions near Vaux Pond, on the Verain front east of the Meuse. The War Office announces that this attack was repelled. West of the Meuse, the statement says, there was a vigorous artillery action in the region of Avocourt Wood.

Also Repulsed at Hill 287

The official communication issued by the War Office last night reads:

"On the left bank of the Meuse, after a violent bombardment, the Germans launched a strong attack on our positions in the neighborhood of Hill 287. This attack was completely repulsed. Some prisoners remained in our hands."

"A small offensive action carried out by our troops on the slopes west of Le Mort Homme permitted us to occupy some parts of a German trench. We made sixty-two prisoners and captured two machine guns."

"The day was comparatively calm on the rest of the front."

British Sappers Active

London, May 11.—The British official statement on the campaign in the western zone reads:

"There has been some mining activity about Freycourt, Souchez, Hallue and Cuniby, but no change has taken place in the situation at these points."

"The artillery on both sides has been active about Marcourt, Souchez and St. Eloi. Our artillery bombarded enemy positions at La Boisselle and southward of Messines."

Big Gun Duel on Belgian Front

Paris, May 11.—The Belgian communication reads: "There was an artillery duel in the region of Rumcapelle, Dixmude and Steenstraete."

CONNELLY BOOKED TO SUCCEED HURLEY

Manchester Labor Leader Is Picked for the State Board.

When the governor and council meet again, they are expected to appoint a new man of the state board of arbitration and conciliation. Most reliable information is to the effect that this place will go to Michael J. Connally of Manchester who is first vice president of the State Federation of Labor.

Francis J. Hurley also of Manchester, has one more month to serve on the board and is making a fight to continue in office, but arrangements have apparently been made to give the place to somebody else and Connally is understood to have the inside track. The contest between Hurley and Connally is attracting a great deal of interest in labor circles. Both are well known Democrats. The gubernatorial board consists of thirty members, one to represent capital, another labor, and the third, the general welfare. Dr. John H. Neal of Portsmouth is chairman and the other member in addition to Mr. Hurley, is George A. Tracy of Claremont. The compensation is $8 per day and expenses.

After the longest run of any attraction in the history of Boston, thirty weeks, with 380 performances, or one for more than every week in the year, that mighty Griffith spectacle, "The Birth of a Nation," generally conceded to be the world's greatest theatrical production, closed its Boston engagement at the Majestic Theatre, on October 30th, last. Ever since then, it has been touring New England and

OFFICERS ELECTED AT ANNUAL MEETING

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY TO THE Y. M. C. A. FOLLOWED MEETING WITH FINE MUSICAL PROGRAM ON THURSDAY.

More than sixty guests were present at the Y. M. C. A. parlors on Thursday afternoon at the excellent musical presentation under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A., following the annual meeting of the organization. The meeting opened in the early afternoon and was well attended; the regular routine of the meeting occupying but a short time. The reports of the secretary and treasurer for the past year were received and showed the Auxiliary to be in a prosperous condition. A report from the state secretary was also received and placed on file. The officers who had served during the past year were re-elected for the ensuing year, Mrs. Horatio Frye being elected to the office of vice-president, which had been held by the late Mrs. William L. Hanson. The officers for the 1916-1917 season are:

President, Mrs. Donald W. McNichol.
Vice president, Mrs. Horatio Frye.
Secretary, Miss Fay Truman.

Treasurer, Mrs. Charles Richardson.

Following the meeting the afternoon was taken in charge by Miss Rothwell, chairman of the entertainment committee. Miss Rothwell had arranged an excellent program for the entertainment of the members and their many guests, all of the numbers being well received and greatly appreciated, as the work of the several artists fully deserved. Following the entertainment refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. McNichol, who was assisted in the serving by members of the Camp Fire Girls.

And learned from actual experience as well, that the streets of the city were in a horrible condition on Thursday. It is admitted that no department of the city government is responsible for the high wind which caused all the disturbance, but some department is at fault when the city's money is appropriated for the oiling of the streets and the work hasn't been started by the second week in May. Daniel street was fearful, as has been stated in another column; but it was impossible to find any street within the city limits that wasn't disgrace to Portsmouth and the Board of Public Works, or whatever other department is responsible for the neglect in getting the oil down where it will do the most good.

Some of the streets passed through were Water, State, Pleasant, Deer, Market, Vaughan, Bridge, Hanover, Middle, Court and many others and it was impossible to find one where water or oil had been used.

Last year the authors of the Automobile Blue Book found it necessary to have an insert printed, warning drivers of motors to avoid Middle Street in entering or passing through Portsmouth. Had one of the men connected with the publication been in the city yesterday the insert would likely have been "Avoid Portsmouth in passing into or through New Hampshire." It may be possible, but not probable, that some other municipality in New England would be found which was in a worse condition than this city. It is very doubtful if a citizen of the city can be located who will admit that the streets in Portsmouth, on Thursday, were anything but a disgrace.

After looking over the property which was afire yesterday afternoon and realizing the great amount of damage that water plays to household furniture when a building is afire, it appears that Portsmouth needs a protective department. In other cities this system is employed and although infinite in measure with the fire department, it is not a part of that system. It seems likely that sufficient funds could be secured for the maintenance of such a department if it was realized just how much protection it would afford. It is a saving to the citizens, business men and insurance companies, and it is needed here.

A number from this part of the town will attend the play entitled, "The Time of His Life," given by the senior class of Trap Academy in Elliot this evening. This little play was given in Academy half a dozen years ago and met with much success and they who asked to present it in Elliot.

Twin theater has been installed in Pepperell hotel and electric lights installed in every room and other rooms are being rushed in preparation to the opening of the season.

Mrs. James Walker is able to be out of doors after an illness of several weeks.

A number from this part of the town will attend the play entitled, "An Incident that's new," given by the senior class of Trap Academy in Elliot this evening. Games and music were enjoyed by the boys. Refreshments were served. The next night will be held with Roy Fernand.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Hill of New Jersey were in town on Thursday looking over their new residence on Crockett's Neck road, which they expect to open very soon.

Mrs. Emilie Merriam and daughter Miss Christine of Philadelphia arrived on Thursday at the Decatur bungalow for the season.

The K. F. C. club will meet with Mrs. Oscar Clark on Saturday evening.

The house owned by George Tobey and occupied by Charles Bedell is being painted.

Elmer Moulton has concluded his work at the navy yard and has taken employment with Harry Roberts.

Dreaming of World Peace.

It is not strange, perhaps, that at a time when the drift toward centralization is so strong as it is in this country today that there should be dreamers dreaming of ways to preserve the peace of the world after the present great world conflict shall have come to an end.

Among those who have been considering this subject is Leslie M. Shaw, former secretary of the United States treasury, who in an address before the World Court League in New York recently outlined a plan which seems feasible to him. Mr. Shaw thinks a world government could be established in which all of the leading nations would be united as the different states of this country are united under the federal government. There would be a constitution similar to that of the United States, with a president, a congress, an army and a navy, the latter to be used only in preserving the peace. The different sovereignties would confine their forms of government, but all would be amenable to the great central power. Mr. Shaw is convinced that treaties and compacts will not prevent war and that some great world combination will be necessary if the nations are to live in peace.

It is to be feared, however, that this plan, like so many others, would not work out as well in practice as it does on paper. It will doubtless be a long time before the nations of the world are ready to join in any such combination, and it is to be questioned that even "world government" would be sufficient to preserve peace at all times. What Americans believe to be the best government in the world was not good enough or strong enough to prevent the war of the rebellion, and other countries have had their troubles within their own limits. When the war spirit breaks loose there is trouble in spite of the form of the government under which the trouble occurs.

The chances are that the world will go on after this war very much as it has in the past, that the various governments will continue to constitute the family of nations. The nations will live in peace so far as they respect one another's rights, but when the grasping hand is outstretched there will be trouble in the future as there has been in the past.

The true foundation of peace and happiness for nations as for individuals, is the Golden Rule. When the nations are ready to be governed by that rule war will cease, and not before. The world must come to understand that it is righteousness that exalteth a nation, and not the form of its government or the size of its army and navy.

The "yellow peril" created a small panic in a New England town the other day. A number of negroes employed in a munitions plant discovered that their skins and hair were turning yellow, and they immediately quit their jobs in terror. Investigation showed that the change in the color of the men was due to chemicals and that the effect was not dangerous.

A man in the state of Washington has been found guilty of libeling the memory of George Washington. This seems like going back a long way for a libel suit, but though Washington has been dead a long time the people of the country are not yet ready to listen in patient when he is called a "blasphemer," a "slave-holder" and an "inveterate drinker."

A ship load of Scotch whiskey reached New York a few days ago and some of the statists after liberally sampling the "invoice" figured out that the cargo contained the foundation for nearly 25,000,000 Scotch highballs. While the price may come a little high "on account of the war," there are many who will consider the product worth the cost.

Many thrifty housewives are "putting down" eggs for use at times when the price will be very much higher than now. Waterglass is the preservative used and long experience has proved its reliability. So far as eggs are concerned this is as effectual as cold storage and its growing use results in a large saving every year.

It is encouraging to be informed that a "basis of co-operation to prevent misunderstandings" has been reached by the American and Mexican forces in pursuit of Villa. "Misunderstandings" between those forces would be greatly to the advantage of Mr. Villa and greatly to the disadvantage of the two countries.

Mr. Bryan will attend the democratic national convention as a syndicate reporter, and will probably be at the republican convention in the same capacity. He was defeated as a candidate for delegate-at-large to the democratic gathering, but as a newspaperman he gets there just the same.

FIRST SPEECH IN TEN YEARS

Former Sec. of Navy W. H. Moody Talks Over Phone to Haverhill Business Men.

Haverhill, May 11.—William H. Moody, secretary of the navy in the Roosevelt cabinet, and later associate justice of the United States supreme court, made from his sick bed tonight his first public speech in ten years. He talked from his home on Sutton-street road to the 100 members of the Haverhill Board of Trade, which in the course of the evening changed its name to the Haverhill Chamber of Commerce. Each of the 1000 members had in front of him a telephone through which it was possible to hear distinctly every word Mr. Moody uttered.

Judge Moody, propped up on pillows, exchanged greetings over the trans-continental line to San Francisco with Victor H. Metcalf of Oakland, California, who was also in the Roosevelt cabinet as secretary of commerce and labor, and later was secretary of the navy.

PEOPLES' OPINION

Ask Support of Preparedness Measures.

To the Readers:

The Senate has passed the Chamberlain Army Bill, and the House has passed what is known as the Hay Bill.

These two Bills have been referred to a Conference Committee made up of three members of the House and five members of the Senate. These eight conferencees are attempting to draft a compromise which will eventually be referred back to the House and Senate for final action.

The Chamberlain Bill contains three important provisions: (1) the Militia pay bill, (2) the increase of the Regular Army, and (3) Section 56, which makes provision for a National Citizen Army under the exclusive control of the President, which could be made to include such organizations as the Pittsburgh Training Regiments.

Section 56 would permit the organization of dependable national reserves to supplement the present regular line, which is made up solely of the State Militias.

We call your attention to the fact that the provisions of Section 56 of the Chamberlain Bill are not included in the Hay Bill and are, moreover, strongly opposed by the House and its conference.

We, the undersigned officers and members of the National Security League, consider Section 56 to be the most vital issue before the present Congress. We advocate its retention by the Conference Committee.

If it is finally rejected by the Conference Committee we feel that the House as a whole should reconsider its position, go over the heads of the conferencees, and pass Section 56 as a separate Bill, thus considering it independently of the Militia Pay Clause and of the increase of the Regular Army and allowing it to be judged on its own merits.

We urge our fellow members of the National Security League, and all others who favor the attainment of adequate preparedness, to ask their Congressmen to support Section 56 of the Chamberlain Bill.

CURRENT OPINION

It Is the Part of Common Prudence to Prepare for Protection.

When dangers arise in our municipalities or in our states, as prudent men we increase our means of protection against riot and disorder. Ought we not for the same reason, when some of the belligerents are striking vessels in violation of every principle of international law and humanity and other belligerents are interfering with our commerce under the plea of military necessity, have a reasonably sufficient navy and army to protect the lives and property of our people against the aggressions of nations that are paying no respect for the rules which control the intercourse among the family of nations?

I hope war may never come, but I would regard myself as derelict in the duty I owe to the people of the state and nation if I did not heed the lesson of the hour and provide accordingly. If unfortunately we should become involved in war within the next three or four years and were not prepared what criticism would be heaped upon the heads of the legislature and executive departments if we had failed in the face of the warnings we have had of impending dangers!

I am speaking only of preparedness for defense. I am opposed to preparation for a war of aggression.—By Atlee Pomerene, Senator from Ohio.

The prison ship Southery will go in the dry dock next month for overhauling and painting. The vessel has not been docked for over three years and is badly in need of cleaning below the water line.

Will Have Fast Engines

Two special type of boats under construction here for the Newport Torpedo training station will be equipped with the fastest engines on the market. One will carry the Winter and the other the Jumbo. The installation will be done by the yard mechanics.

Good Money for Labor

The allotment for labor in the Industrial Department for the month of May includes $35,000 from the Bureau of Construction and Repair and $25,000 from Bureau of Steam Engineering.

To Investigate Shooting

A board has been ordered by Captain W. L. Howard, commandant, to investigate the shooting by a marine guard at the man prowling around the Franklin shiphouse. The investigation will be carried out by Col. Catlin, U. S. M. C. Lieutenant Commander, Lieutenant Greenleaf and Lieutenant Morse, the last named to act as recorder.

Tom Gets Warm Welcome

Chief Mechanic Thomas O'Donnell well known in this city since the days when he was stationed on the New Hampshire, is acting as engineer officer on the repair ship Pennsylvanian, now at the yard. He has been renewing old acquaintances in Portsmouth since the ship arrived and he received a great welcome from the local Elks, of which order he is a very active member.

We urge our fellow members of the National Security League, Longue, and all others who favor the attainment of adequate preparedness, to ask their Congressmen to support Section 56 of the Chamberlain Bill.

HAVE FORMED FIRE COMPANY

Residents of the eastern part of Rye have formed a fire company with Irving Head as chairman; Ernest A. Tucker, treasurer; and Alvin Caswell, clerk.

It is the intention to secure a chemical apparatus as soon as possible which will be kept in a central location where it can be easily reached in case of necessity, and to add to the equipment as much as possible from time to time.

There is no fire protection in Rye, with the exception of a chemical at Rye Beach and in time of a fire it is necessary to depend upon aid from this city.

STILL A MYSTERY.

Navy men continued to search the river today in hopes of discovering the body of the man shot at by the marine guard early Thursday morning near the shiphouse. The circumstances surrounding the affair is still a mystery to the yard officials and is likely to remain so unless a body is found somewhere.

It is understood that the guard about the shiphouse has been increased by night.

Captain W. H. Howard, yard commander, stated today that the authorities were working in the dark up to date but a thorough investigation would go on as to the mysterious affair.

Rev. I. J. Merry of Fort Hill has accepted a call to the Congregational church, Ney Castle, as pastor, to succeed Rev. Charles Parker, who resigned to accept a pastorate in Connecticut.

FIRE AT BIDDEFORD POOL

Over Two Hundred Acres
Burned Over and Loss
Is Heavy.

Biddeford, May 12.—Ninety firemen from Biddeford Pool, Biddeford and Saucy fought a forest fire Thursday afternoon which burned over 200 acres of wood and cleared land along the Pool road and set fire to the houses. At sunset the fire was under control.

Joseph W. Haley lost 60 cords of wood and acres of pine growth were burned over. The loss will be $1,000. John N. Haleyn and Silton H. Adams' losses will be $500 each.

The buildings of Joseph W. Haley and Silton H. Thompson caught fire a number of times. Women assisted the men in passing buckets to the firemen who were throwing water over the roof.

A large tree was uprooted by the gale on Thursday night and fell over on top of a house near Greenland Village Station on the Concord Branch, but not much damage was done.

Dover, May 12.—Dover Lodge of Elks gave its reception to Grand Exalted Ruler James R. Nicholson, at Elks hall on Thursday evening.

Visiting Elks were received at the railroad station by the lodge, in parade formation headed by a band. The route of the parade to headquarters was brilliant with decorations and bunting. Nearly 300 Elks were in line. The column marched to the home of Past Exalted Ruler Dr. Alvin J. Sullivan on Silver street and gave him an enthusiastic serenade. The doctor has been confined to his home by sickness for several months. He was greeted by Grand Exalted Ruler Nicholson.

Arriving at the hall a formal reception was held followed by a banquet. Past District Deputy P. E. Quigley was toastmaster. An address of welcome was given by Mayor George D. Barrett. Grand Exalted Ruler Nicholson was given an oil painting, a sunset scene on Lake Wentworth, N. H. Exalted Ruler Thornton making the speech.

The Past Exalted Ruler comprised the republican committee with Exalted Ruler Thornton as chairman. The banquet committee consisted of Jas. J. Peale, Carlton A. Newton, Daniel D. MANY BUILDINGS BURNED

Disastrous Forest Fires Raged
Thursday Night in York County.

Sanford, May 12.—Two sets of farm buildings were destroyed at South Sanford Thursday afternoon by a forest fire that last night threatened $100,000 worth of timber land and buildings in the vicinity of Old Falls and West Kennebunk.

The fire started near the home of Mrs. Batchelder, known as the Heath place and Whitehill Mills. Driven by a northwesterly wind it destroyed the farm buildings before help arrived from Sanford, Alfred and Kennebunk, the flames had reached the farm of Hobart Whitehill, but the buildings were saved.

Another fire started at Moose Lane, near the Allis Mill, destroyed the buildings at the Nathan Tripp farm, and burned toward the Kennebunk line.

The loss on the Batchelder buildings and contents is estimated at $2500 and on the Tripp buildings, about $3000 partially covered by insurance.

All employees of the Alfred Embroidery mills, a crew from the Sanborn Fire department and a large force of volunteers fought the first farm buildings belonging to George Ferguson, F. C. Leavitt, H. C. Brown and the millmen at Old Falls were threatened.

Bad forest fires were also reported in North Lebanon, Alton and Limelock.

THEDA BARA IN "A FOOL THERE WAS," OLYMPIA THEATRE.

A fool there was, and he made his prayer—

Even as you and I—
To a ring, a bone, and a bank of hair—
We call her "The Woman who did not care"—

But the Fool—he called her his "Lady Fair"—

Even as you and I—

From Kipling's Masterpieces, "The Vampire."

In conformance with a public demand that has grown steadily, the Olympia desires to announce to the theatre-going public of Portsmouth that it has secured that startling "fimbo" feature entitled, "A Fool There Was," for a return engagement at the Olympia on next Monday and Tuesday. There has never been a motion picture made that has surpassed this wonderful Fox production, with Theda Bara, which made history in the picture industry.

"A Fool There Was" in its screen version is a faithful adaptation of Rudyard Kipling's most famous poem. Indeed, by many, this poem of Kipling's, which is entitled, "The Vampire," is considered to be that genius' masterpiece. As a stage success it ran for years in the principal cities of the country. In picture form, however, it is shown at its best, as the opportunity presents, for exceptional fimbo work are found but rarely in the silent drama. The theme of Kipling's poem is followed with the utmost continuity throughout, and at no time is there anything sacrificed for the sake of the conventional "happy" ending. Frequently, in the course of the action, the theme is emphasized by appropriate lines of poetry from the original poem, which lend themselves admirably to the purpose of the exploitation.

One of the most admired stars of the screen today is Theda Bara, the Paramount actress, whose entrancing talents might ever have been unknown had it not been for this picture. Miss Bara was procured by the Fox Company expressly to star in this production, and her work met with such instantaneous success that today her position in Filmdom is secure against all other leading ladies. Yet, it is in the five reels of "A Fool There Was" that Theda Bara's art is seen at its best, just as it was that in this attraction she made herself famous, and sprung into headline notices over night.

Then, there is the serious, practical side of this picture, the moral aspect of it. A distinguished clergyman, upon witnessing "A Fool There Was," took it as his text the following Sunday and declared it to be one of the highest moral lessons ever conveyed through the medium of the screen. Regarding this statement, there is positively no doubt. Never has the picture been made that contained such an all-compelling appeal to everyholder as is woven into the five reels, in this Fox masterpiece. It makes itself felt, and felt in a way that leaves an indelible impress upon the spectator. Such photo-dramas as "A Fool There Was" cannot have any other effect than the beneficial one of stimulating thought in the right direction, and this is the prime essential in the many-sided mission of the motion picture art.

Therefore, the Olympia feels confident that its step in acceding to the public demand, and being enabled at last to bring to Portsmouth this famed subject of Kipling's, is one that will meet with the hearty approval of its patrons. For it is entirely safe to say that those who have once witnessed "A Fool There Was" will be eager to see it again, and those who have never viewed it will at last have their opportunity when the Olympia shows it on next Monday and Tuesday.

It is said that Hanson did not keep his promise and there were rumors of another and more serious mob gathering while Sheriff Woodman was notified and made the arrests. Hanson and Nickerson furnished bail, but the woman, up to a late hour yesterday, was in custody.

MRS. CARPENTER BREAKS DOWN AS LETTERS TO SON ARE READ

Defendant in Divorce Suit Was Unable to Restrain Tears on Hearing Love Messages Read in Court

Concord, N. H., May 11.—While letters she had written to her 8-year-old son, Ralph, Jr., but which were withheld from the child, were being read today, Mrs. Ralph G. Carpenter of Boston, who is contesting her husband's divorce label, placed her handkerchief to her eyes and wept softly. The husband and father was being cross-examined by Gen. Frank Streeter, her principal attorney.

The letters were written last fall after the boy had been "kidnapped" by his father at Magnolia. The child was staying with the father and grandparents at Wolfeboro, N. H. One of the letters dated Oct. 12 follows:

"My Darling Boy—I am so anxious to know how your health is. I do hope my little boy is well. Now, dear, what are you doing about your studies. You know how badly mother would feel to have you lose any or fall behind your class. You are never out of my thoughts. You know, darling, how much I love you and always shall as long as I live. I pray for you every night. Try to keep well for my sake. With all love to my precious boy."

"MOTHER."

Another letter, dated Nov. 28, reads: "My Darling boy: I wrote you some time ago and am so worried because you have not answered my letter. You know how much 'muddle' loves your dear, and it is so hard not to have my little boy with me or even to hear from him; but darling, it will not be much longer now before we will be together again. I shall wait for a letter from you. Do write me as soon as you get this. I want to know how you are feeling and to see your precious little face. I miss you so, dear, and you are never out of my thoughts. Be careful of yourself and try to keep well. Good bye, darling, for a little while and remember your 'muddle' loves you more than anything else in the world."

"MOTHER."

"Don't you think it was exceedingly cruel for you to withhold those letters from your boy?" asked Gen. Streeter.

"He was contented there with me and I did not want him to read anything that would distract him," replied the wealthy Boston real estate operator.

"The boy doesn't know that his mother wrote she loved him and was praying for him every day, does he?" inquired the lawyer.

"Not that I know of," replied Carpenter, who also stated that he took the responsibility of keeping the letter in a grueling, grueling pace been inaf-

NEW YORK TO AMANA

Distanced at 76 1-2 Miles Per Hour by Automobile Without-Changing a Tire.

It is 960 miles from New York to Chicago. The "Twentieth Century" Limited covers these 960 miles in 20 hours, with five stops for passengers, besides change of locomotives. That is an average of about 48 miles per hour, over a nearly perfect roadway of steel rails.

On Tuesday, May 2, at the Sheephead Bay Speedway, N. Y., Ralph Mulford drove a Hudson automobile 1,552 miles, at an average speed of 76 1-2 miles per hour. That is more than 60 per cent faster than the 48-mile per hour speed of the "Twentieth Century" Limited on its roadway of steel. Mulford made this average with ten stops for gasoline and oil—beating the world's record to a frazzle, of course; but the most significant and impressive thing about this was the following—Mulford made 1,552 miles at that prodigious average of speed without changing a tire.

Never in the world's history has such a grueling, grueling pace been inaftained for such a huge distance—more than the 1,155-mile distance between New York and Omaha, Neb., equivalent to 12 1-2 hours' time for the 960-mile distance between New York and Chicago, which is covered by the world-famous "Twentieth Century" Limited in 20 hours; not speed alone, but average speed maintained over 1,500 miles—without changing a tire.

Great is the Hudson Super-Six; great are Silvertown Tires, and great is Mulford, the speed-king of iron nerve and endurance. Without his achievement the world's greatest automobile and tire test might never have found such conclusive expression, and without Silvertown Cord Tire endurance could never have made such a record, because the rending, tearing, wrenching, grueling strain of such a speed, for such a distance, would have worn several sets of tires of any other make, thereby cutting down the average speed through the changes.

This is where the two layers of shiny cables, or giant cords, anchored, find, in Silvertown Tires, capable measure of their strength and endurance. This is where the Black-Rubber treads of Silvertown Tires prove their wearing qualities, and their lasting cohesion to the cord structure beneath them. Because the world's greatest speed records, of 1915-16, would have been impossible without that endurance of Silvertown Cord Tire construction and tread. These alone could have stood up to match the endurance of the man and the cars capable of taking such a speed out of them. Observe the roster of other Silvertown Cord achievements.

Chicago Race—August 7, 1915: 100 miles, at 100 1-5 miles per hour average. Rista winner, on Silvertown Cord Tires.

Minneapolis Race—September 4, 1915: 300 miles. Cooper winner, on Silvertown Cord Tires.

Chicago Race—June 26, 1915: 500 miles, at 97 3-5 miles per hour average. Rista winner, on Silvertown Cord Tires.

The comedy, unfortunately seldom seen of late years, suggests Bertrand Shaw at his best, and the brilliant dialogue was very effectively handled by one of the most capable casts in the history of college dramatics here.

Arthur Morgan of Durham, president of the club, was the John Worthing and E. L. Blake of Durham the Algonquin Monarchs. They gave a finished and intelligent interpretation of these two amazing young Englishmen, and Mr. Morgan's grief at the death of the mythical brother Ernest was a triumph.

Miss Eleona Currier of Lochmere and Miss Ethel Kellher of Dover were the Hon. Gwendolen Fairfax and the Cecily Cardew. Unusually pretty and fully alive to the possibilities of the sparkling lines, they made the most of their surprising love scenes and their delightful quarrel in the garden in the second act was one of the successes of the evening.

Miss Mary Worcester of Berwick, Me., was a domineering and startlingly direct Lady Bracknell, and Miss Alice Crighton of Boscombe as Miss Prism the governess and Roy Graham of Chudleigh the Rev. Dr. Chasuble, with his sermon for any occasion took full advantage of the opportunity the lines offered of making these traditional parts most untraditional.

O. C. Work of Exeter as Lane, and W. T. Taylor of Revere, Mass., as Merriman, the two servants, made the most of the liveliness of an author who gives witty dialogue to parts of a dozen lines.

The play was given under the direction of Albert R. Lovejoy of Boston, of the Emerson School of Oratory and the club is indebted to the constant and untiring assistance of Mrs. Annie J. Morgan of Durham for much of its success.

MYSTERY IS STILL UNSOLVED

No Clues to Identity of Man Shot by Marine Guard Yet Found.

The situation at the Portsmouth navy yard, following the act of Private Edward Ross, U. S. M. C., who was on guard duty early Thursday morning and fired two shots at a man seen running along the side of the Franklin Ship house, is still a mystery. Commandant John V. Kleeman, acting commandant of the yard, has notified the department at Washington, giving what few details he has at his command and it is learned that a thorough investigation will be started at once. Captain Kleeman had nothing new to report late in the evening with the exception of the statement that the river would be dredged again today to an effort to locate the body of the man who Mr. Ross believes he succeeded in shooting. The opinion of several that the incident was a trick of the mind on the part of the marine guard is without foundation and it is known that the sentry called the corporal of the guard before he fired his first shot at the retreating figure.

All day yesterday a detail was engaged in dredging the river in the vicinity of the end of the ship house dock, but without success. The river was extremely choppy and made the work difficult but from the positive manner in which Private Ross made his report, there is little question in the minds of the commandant and his officers that the fugitive was shot after he had jumped into the water. It is reported, although not confirmed, that the guard both inside and outside the shiphouse has been doubled and this guard will be continued on duty until the mystery is solved.

HEALTH NEWS

(United States Public Health Service)

Poverty and tuberculosis—tuberculosis and poverty! These are the essential facts which force themselves into the attention of every investigator who faces the problem of that disease. The tenement house district of Cincinnati yields a tuberculosis morbidity three times as great as the areas where better housing prevails. In 197 families in which tuberculosis existed the average monthly income for a family of four was approximately $37. After paying the florid share for food and rent, a balance of $6.13 remained for each individual to meet all other expenses. Such a low subsistence level works like black magic in the spread of tuberculosis. Moreover, and this is a point over which the public should ponder, the home of the average wage earner was found to be far less sanitary than the average factory and workshop. In regard to all the factories which make for healthful living, ventilation, sufficient light, proper temperature, and freedom from overcrowding, the score was in favor of the factory in nearly every instance.

The city of Cincinnati realized that her tuberculosis death rate was 80 per cent above the average and that it had failed to manifest a tendency to decline. She felt no qualms in making this admission. Rather, she determined that she would learn why, with an efficient health department and favorable climatic influences, she was suffering from twice the mortality from that disease as her neighbor, Pittsburgh. Accordingly the United States Public Health Service was requested to make a thorough study of the situation and submit a report. To show that something more than mere accident interest obtained, 13,932 workers in 151 factories of the city voluntarily submitted to a physical examination.

The conclusions reached, point directly to the close connection between poverty and tuberculosis. The great factor underlying the entire problem was seemingly that of economic conditions. One-sixth of all tuberculosis cases come from cheap lodging houses.

Alcoholism was a prominent cause, and often accelerated the course of the disease. Occupational hazards and bad working conditions were apparently responsible for about 20 per cent of the cases, but in the majority of instances these hazards were not necessarily inherent in the occupation. Previous tuberculosis in the family occurred in practically a third of all the cases investigated. Dissipation, overcrowding, bad housing, and innate lack of personal responsibility, were also listed as causes.

An interesting feature of the report, and one which has not previously been dwelt upon in studies of this character, relates to the effect of immigration and the rate of growth of the population of a city upon the tuberculosis death rate. It is shown that cities with a population composed largely of racial stock having a limited resistance to tuberculosis are subject to a high mortality rate from that disease, while centers having a slow rate of population increase are likewise subject to a high tuberculosis rate. The evidence is submitted in a comparative table covering sixteen American cities. Almost without exception those with a high percentage of Irish, Scandinavian and German stock, and those in which the negro population is relatively large, have a correspondingly high mortality, while Cincinnati and Baltimore with a relatively small population increase, but a high tuberculosis rate. Doubtless the true explanation of this discrepancy is that advanced by the authors, namely, that where the population increases rapidly new buildings are erected to take the place of old insanitary structures and better housing conditions prevail.

WHITE'S ISLAND WASHER AWAY

42 COTTAGES MAY HAVE TO BE MOVED AT HAMPTON

Is White's Island at Hampton doomed? Is a question that is now confronting the many cottage owners at this one-time delightful seashore community at the north end of the long bridge over Hampton river. For the past few years the winter and the early incursions of the sea have steadily compelled general movement to the rear, and a large number of cottages have been pushed back before the advancing tides until at present they are marking their last stand.

Their efforts to ward off the repeated attacks of insatiable Old Neptune have proven futile, a small breakwater from the end which has gradually worked to the north end of the bridge from overflowing the cottage locations has had a banishing effect for the currents made a change of front and made their attack from the rear so that to render the cottage position untenable and now has gone forth the edict that if the remaining cottages are to be saved they must be immediately moved—but the question is, where?

The situation as explained by a cottage owner simply means that 42 cottages, the last remain of the populous White's Island must be immediately moved or become a prey to the waves. This would appear to mean that the long rows of cottages on Concord and Exeter streets will have to go.

The problem that is perplexing the cottage owners is where they will secure new locations. There is none in the immediate vicinity fronting the ocean. This situation also brings up the question: How far will the inroads of the sea extend into Hampton beach proper?

The only answer in the minds of many who are interested in and seriously affected by the present conditions is an appeal to the state or national government for assistance in the construction of jetties, or breakwaters of some sort, that will effectively stop the devastating floods of the sea, and the ever changing currents at the mouth of Hampton river that are the cause of the complete wiping out of a summer settlement and the consequent loss to the cottage owner.—Newburyport News.

BODY OF WOMAN FOUND IN RIVER UNIDENTIFIED

SECOND MYSTERY DEATH GIVEN TO THE HAVERHILL POLICE TO SOLVE

Haverhill, May 11.—With the body of the man found in the Merrimack at Groveland Sunday in the Groveland tomb yet unidentified, a second river mystery was put in the hands of the police last night, when the body of a woman, who had been dead less than 24 hours, was found in the water near the mouth of Bridley's brook. The body is now at the undertaking rooms of Costello & Shinnahan, awaiting identification.

At 6:30 o'clock last night Carmine Lepro, a 16-year-old boy, living on Prescott avenue, who was playing on the river bank, saw what he thought was a bundle of rags floating in the water a short distance from the bank.

Promised by curiosity he went out in a boat, discovering that the object was the body of a woman, he towed the body to the river bank and notified the police station. Officer William J. Fenton responded and he in turn communicated with Medical Examiner John F. Croston, who ordered that the body be taken to the undertakers.

Examination of the body showed that the woman had been dead only a short time. There were no marks or dislocations on the body.

The woman was five feet two inches in height, dark brown hair, medium complexion and wore gold-rimmed spectacles. She had a wart under the right ear and a well-worn wedding ring on the third finger of the left hand.

She was clothed in a blue skirt, a white house shirtwaist, a short gray flannelette kimono, black stockings, one with a white foot. She had no shoes. Her teeth were false.

The body will be held at the undertaking rooms of Costello & Shinnahan while the police are attempting to establish the identity of the victim.

BEER DISTRIBUTOR TO GERMAN ARMY UPHOLDS BEER

(By Dr. Max Stein)

Every day the Association of the Distribution of Beer in Germany, of which I am the director, sends 1,500,000 liters of beer to our soldiers at the front.

Every day railroads, motor trucks, pack animals, steamships, are carrying great shipments of beer to our soldiers in Russia, in Germany and in the Balkans.

The average American cannot understand why the German government spends millions of dollars and uses valuable transportation space in carrying what you consider a luxury to the front. But that is just the point. We do not consider beer a luxury, we consider it a necessity, and we believe that the health of our troops would suffer greatly if for any reason the beer supply were cut off.

Before I came to America I could not understand this attitude of the American people. To me it seemed unbelievable that America should send an army into a waste country like Mexico and subject them to the danvers of poisoned water holes and typhoid when you might so easily drink port beer. But since coming to America I began to understand. I have visited your drinking places, which are only frequented by men—where men stand up at a bar, and one man treats the other in succession, and to know in what work and under what conditions women can give the best service, if the schools are to know what industrial training their young people will need, if the public is to know what need there is for remedial legislation and the effect of such legislation upon the women and upon the industry when enacted.

This request for more attention to women's work as such is not brought up now for the first time. In 1907, through the efforts of the women of the country, Congress made a special appropriation for a comprehensive investigation into the condition of wage-earning women and children. This investigation was continued during the years 1907-1909, and one of the facts very clearly revealed was the need of continuous, coherent, and constructive investigations into the conditions of labor of the wage-earning women. In the fall of 1909, the National Women's Trade Union League officially requested the creation of a separate Woman's Division within the Department of Labor, which should devote itself to studies of women in industry.

As an answer to this request, and to the increasing sentiment throughout the country in favor of such a division, Dr. Charles P. Nell, then Commissioner of Labor Statistics, offered to establish in the Bureau of Labor Statistics a Woman's Division, and apportion thereto such of the Bureau's resources as he felt that the other work previously organized and under way would permit. This accordingly was done in the fall of 1910, and Miss Marie L. Oberauer, who had been in charge of a large section of the women and child labor investigation, was made chief of the new division. Although the funds were exceedingly limited, the work went on along lines planned.

Under Dr. Nell's successor, however, the Bureau of Labor Statistics has again failed to build up or carry on the work of the Woman's Division as it was originally planned. Not only did the funds allotted to the Division remain disproportionately small, but the very existence of the Division became more and more difficult, until, early in 1916, after the resignation of both Miss Oberauer and her successor, together with several of the staff, the Commissioner discontinued the work altogether, so that at present the Woman's Division is non-existent.

The experience of a subordinate Woman's Division within the Bureau of Labor Statistics has shown that the organization had three important weaknesses:

First, the Bureau published its bulletins in forms intelligible to experts only, while the Woman's Division should tell the very human story of women wage-earners in a way that every normally intelligent person can easily understand.

Second, a just apportionment of the funds for the development of the work of the Woman's Division could not be obtained, because the Bureau had a traditional field of investigation that took most of its appropriation. Inasmuch as these investigations, although frequently into industries employing large numbers of women, uniformly failed to reveal the factors especially affecting their welfare, the large expenditure of funds involved in such studies yield little or no value to wage-earning women.

Third, and most important, the Woman's Division, under the Bureau of Labor Statistics had no statutory existence, (not having been created by Congress), and therefore lived or died at the pleasure of each Commissioner of Labor.

The Jones Bill for the creation of an independent Woman's Division does not contemplate the creation of a new federal agency, but simply insures the continuous development of an organization the need for which has been proved, which was started five years ago, but which has been engaged during the entire period in an unequal struggle for existence.

A REQUEST TO CONGRESS FOR AN INDEPENDENT WOMAN'S DIVISION.

A bill to be introduced in the House by Mr. Casey of Pennsylvania to establish a Woman's Division in the Department of Labor has been introduced in the Senate by Senator Jones of Washington. The purpose of the proposed division is to present the facts concerning the work which the wage-earning matrons of this country are doing, what they are getting for it, the

FOREST FIRES ARE RAGING IN YORK COUNTY

TWO LARGE TRACTS BURNED OVER AND OTHER FIRES ARE DISCOVERED AT DURHAM AND KITTERY.

At least two big forest fires were raging in York County last evening and by midnight they were still far from being under control. One was burning near Wells branch and the other near Kennebunk; great areas being burned over. At the fire near Wells two unoccupied houses were destroyed early in the evening but the efforts of the large force of men working to check the conflagration had succeeded in preventing any occupied property being destroyed.

The fire started late in the afternoon along the lines of the Boston and Maine railroad and owing to the high wind soon became almost uncontrollable. Practically every able bodied man in the vicinity of each of the fires turned out to render assistance in stamping out the danger.

Fires were discovered also in the woods near Durham in this state and the tracts burned over were large. Kittery was visited by a small blaze in the early evening but the department checked it before any considerable damage was done.

from the 21st New Hampshire district.

Captain Chandler has been the recipient of loads of honors in the local fire department and is a good strong political fighter as well as a smoke eater. When he starts out for anything he generally gets it. He says it will be no soap box campaign and no buttonholing or phony appeals of politicians will sidetrack him in the future.

SOME JOKER IN CONCORD.

Some vicious person is sending Concord business men a suggestion which has bearing on the talk of setting the clocks ahead to get another hour of daylight into the working day. The suggestion is: "Set the calendar ahead one month so that we may save a couple of tons of coal."

"HELL'S HINGES"

Five Reels.

Positively the greatest picture he has ever appeared in. If you want to see real force, individuality, personality, strength & character vividly depicted on the screen, you should not miss this Triangle Play based on life in a western "bad"

town. There's fighting and struggling, with just the right amount of pathos to make it a record breaking play.
